The Spirit of the High Holidays at CBI

We pride ourselves on being a warm and welcoming congregational community. During the High Holidays, when so many people join together to celebrate the New Year, we have a special opportunity and responsibility to nurture this feeling of warmth and be an accepting community.

We invite you to join us in making Congregation B'nai Israel feel like a big family gathering. As you arrive at synagogue, smile and greet others with wishes of "Shanah Tovah!" - "A good New Year!" As you greet your own family and friends, take time to also meet those you do not know and welcome those who are new to our congregational family. Making the effort to greet visitors and newcomers, or invite a stranger to sit with you, can make the spirit of the High Holidays even more powerful.

*L'shanah Tovah U'metukah!
May this be a sweet and good new year!*

FROM THE RABBI'S DEN

By Rabbi Steven Bayar

In this my last year's articles for the bulletin, I would like to revisit some of the most meaningful moments during my tenure here. In this way I hope to give you a glimpse of where we have been – for I believe that one (be it person or organization) cannot have a firm direction to travel unless they know from which direction they came.

My first shabbatot at Bnai Israel were filled with questions. We were in the traditional seating arrangement; bimah with pews set up in traditional church arrangement. My podium was “bimah left” the cantor’s podium was “bimah right.” People sat in an odd formation in the sanctuary: no one sat in the first six pews in front of my podium. When I asked a past president (Max Schachter) why this odd arrangement, I was told that the people who normally sat in those pews had left with the previous rabbi.

The rabbi emeritus, Rabbi Max Gruenewald, sat in the pew next to what is the sanctuary door leading to my office. He rarely came of Friday nights. On the first Shabbat morning (in those days we had about 25 people coming every Shabbat morning and 50 people coming every Friday evening), when I began to speak he raised the book he was reading above pew level so that everyone could see that he was not paying attention to anything I said.

When several members of the congregation approached me to see if I was bothered by his actions, I laughed and said something like, “at least he is doing something interesting. To be honest sometimes I’m bored with what I say.”

At that time we only had six children attending services on a regular basis (we only had 35 students in the religious school, 30 in the nursery) – all and on Friday night two of them came in pajamas. They would fall asleep in the pews and their parents would take them home after the oneg.

These memories give perspective to our history and more importantly – give us the opportunity to realize how far we have come, how much we have changed and the culture of our synagogue has been enhanced with these challenges. This is very much what the spirit of the High Holy Days brings us in our personal lives.

Ginny and I would like to wish all of you a most happy and healthy New Year.

MUSICAL NOTES

By Cantor Lorna Wallach

~ BLESSINGS ~

Jewish tradition is rich in blessings; we have blessings for many different occasions – some of them “ordinary” (like eating and drinking) and others more extraordinary or rare such as seeing a blossoming fruit tree for the first time in the month of Nissan, or a shooting star or a rainbow. Reciting a blessing allows us to infuse a seemingly mundane activity with holiness. Blessings are not said to merely show gratitude to G-d, they are meant to raise our awareness. This is how the writer/blogger Daniella Levy describes it, “When I hold an apple and say Blessed are You, our G-d, Sovereign of the Universe, who creates the fruit of the tree, I take something mundane/worldly (eating) and make it spiritual. Simply put: in this apple, I see G-d.”

There are three main types of blessings: (1) for Commandments – blessings we say when we are about to perform a Mitzvah such as lighting Shabbat or holiday candles or putting on a Tallit; (2) of Experience – blessings we recite upon experiencing an unusual event such as seeing a rainbow, experiencing an earthquake, or when we have survived a potentially life-threatening situation like a serious illness, surgery or a bad car/bicycle accident (this blessing is known as Birkat HaGomel); and (3) of Enjoyment – blessings we make over something that gives us material pleasure such as eating, drinking or smelling something pleasant (spices at Havdallah).

This third category has many blessings of which we are very familiar – Hamotzi Lechem Min Ha'aretz (over bread), Borei Pri Hagafen (over wine/grape juice) and Birkat Hamazon (after we have eaten a meal). Another blessing in this category is Shehecheyanu. In translation, “Blessed are You, Lord our G-d, Sovereign of the Universe, who has granted us life, sustained us, and enabled us to reach this occasion.” At moments of great joy, when we arrive at a special and rewarding moment in time, we express our thanks to G-d with the Shehecheyanu blessing. There are a host of monumental occasions that warrant this exclamation, like when you perform a mitzvah for the first time that year (hearing the Shofar, shaking the Lulav and Etrog, lighting Chanukkah candles), but the most common is the onset of a Jewish holiday.

In addition to saying this blessing for all of the “firsts”, Rabbi Shefa Gold, a leader in the Jewish Renewal movement and a developer of sacred chants, suggests saying this blessing anytime – since every moment is new and unprecedented. Unfortunately, we often get distracted or complacent and miss the “miracle” that is right in front of us. Rabbi Gold’s approach is to use this blessing to bring our attention back to the present moment, to remind us not to take anything for granted and allow ourselves to be surprised and to appreciate the gift of life.

If you’re familiar with Fiddler on the Roof, you know that the character of the Rabbi can come up with a blessing for everything...even the Tzar! As we begin a new Jewish Year, let us each strive to look at the world around us with new lenses and find the blessings IN everything. And if we see things that are unjust, or where others are struggling and in pain, let us try even harder to BE the blessing for them.

Michael, Shira and Joshua join me in wishing all of you a Shana Tova U’Metukah. May this be a year of MANY BLESSINGS!!

President's Message

By Mariela Dybner, CBI President

I write to you as your new President at the end of what has been an incredible summer at CBI.

Kicking off the season, Rabbi Bayar took our largest contingent of volunteers ever to help in the Appalachian town of McRoberts, Kentucky.

As always, we have enjoyed our ever-popular and spiritually satisfying

Musical Kabbalat Shabbats, led by Cantor Lorna Wallach with the CBI Band.

We came together to support our local community with our biannual Rummage Sale—thank you to Rich and Robin Jacobs for their herculean efforts to put together this event.

Continuing our initiative from last year, members participated in the mitzvah of caring for our cemetery with a family clean up organized by Nan Greenwald and Steve Finkler.

For the eighth consecutive year, one of the highlights of the summer was our Bar-B-Que for all current and prospective members. It was a great celebration and very well attended. Our appreciation goes out to David Good for coordinating the annual festivities along with the help of Howard Kessler, Wendy Kaplowitz, David Touger, Jonathan Engel, David Lax, Michael Slifer, Alex Marcus and Corey Biller.

CBI has stretched its wings this summer and expanded its offerings, particularly for families with young children. Dan Halpern led this initiative, planning activities throughout the summer including Popsicles in the Playground, Shabbat dinner and more. Look for new efforts to make these families welcome in our High Holiday services.

Dan Richter kicked off the Men's Club campaign to fight hunger in our community, organizing monthly volunteers for area food pantries and soup kitchens.

Our Religious Affairs committee had its first Holy Happy Hour, inviting members to gather with a drink to toast the coming of Shabbat.

I am excited to see you all as we join to celebrate the High Holidays. This will be a time of transition, as Rabbi Bayar leads us in his final year. Let's take this opportunity of the Days of Awe to reflect on not only what we have done as individuals but also as a community. I hope to serve you well as we uncover what we wish to be in the years to come.

L'Shana Tova Tikateyvuu!

BAR MITZVAH

Daniel Shapiro August 25, 2018

Daniel Shapiro is an eighth grader at Victor Mravlag School #21 in Elizabeth, NJ.

He loves hats, swimming, and playing "Magic the Gathering". He also is big brother to his little sister Sagan, and as she says, "I'm the cutest little girl"!! (btw, he also thinks she's adorable!)

Daniel is an enthusiastic Boy Scout and student. He has a love of family and camping and loves to explore the outdoors.

Daniel's bar mitzvah project was to beautify the synagogue he loves so dearly, with perennial flower plantings around the building. He and his boy scout troop planted plants, bulbs and flowers on the synagogue grounds.

His family has been there to support him all the way and they are glad to see him reach this milestone.

(Editor's note: Daniel's Bar Mitzvah is/was August 25 so you may be reading this "after the fact")

Beineynu

By Harvey Brenner, Executive Director

In Talmud, Rosh Hashana, it states, “Who changes his place changes his luck!” For me, this past year has been one of great change, much excitement and extraordinary good luck!

As you are aware, the last synagogue position I held was as an executive director in Buffalo, NY. I left there and began here in June. So, by anyone’s measure, I certainly changed my “place” (by some ~400 miles and 6-7 hours’ drive away).

More importantly, my luck changed as well. I had the good fortune to have found a warm, caring and committed congregation in which to ‘ply my trade’. From my perspective, the ‘fit’ has been like “hand and glove”. We’ve formed a wonderful partnership and if you attended the Annual Meeting in June, you’d have heard me tick off some of the major accomplishments we’ve achieved together during the past 15 months or so.

Your Board, Officers and I worked together to lower our expenses and generate more income, all without overburdening you, our members, or diminishing the service levels we deliver daily.

We applied for and have received two security grants (from the State of New Jersey Office of Homeland Security and Preparedness for $10,000 and $2,500 from the Jewish Federation of Greater MetroWest). These two awards will allow us to improve security on our premises throughout the coming year and help to insure the safety and comfort of our members, staff and guests.

Additionally, in June, we applied for (and are awaiting determination for) a $150,000 FEMA-Homeland Security Grant that if awarded, will permit us to further strengthen our perimeter and building, making us less vulnerable to acts of desecration, violence or terrorism.

We’ve upgraded our computer and copier systems thereby enhancing the way we’re able to connect with our membership and do more projects “in house” rather than out-sourcing.

We’ve realigned the office personnel and staffing to better “right-size” to the needs of our congregation now and in the near future.

We’re investigating new methods of facility access and egress to help make our current building as barrier-free as we can while being ever mindful of enhanced security and situational integrity.

As I noted last year, we’re already hard at work revisiting the entire CBI membership experience (spiritual, educational, social and communal) as part of the self-evaluation process necessary before undergoing a rabbinic search.

As I’ve said many times before, it is very easy to say “no”; it takes no talent and just about anybody can say it. The challenge in my position is to say “yes” and to figure out ways to meet our membership’s needs (and to do it all within the framework of the rules, regulations and by-laws of our synagogue’s constitution and in keeping with our long standing minhag).

Again, I invite you to join me on this exciting, meaningful and vibrant journey in search of avenues for change. I can’t promise you that it will always be smooth, but I can promise that it will be interesting, challenging and rewarding once we reach our destination.

From my entire family (my wife-Faith, son-Joshua, granddaughter-Averi and future daughter in law-Janelle)...

G’mar Hatima Tova,

← John Hancock Commercial Filmed at CBI

On August 15, the CBI parking lot and building were the backdrop for a new John Hancock 'Eldercare' insurance commercial. Nearly 40 technicians, directors, producers, camera operators and actors used our building's façade and parking lot in their photo shoot.

We don't have any idea when the commercial will be aired but it was exciting having all that activity on our premises during an otherwise very quiet week.

If we get word as to its airing date(s) we'll pass it along. Stay tuned!

High Holiday Chanting Circle

The ten days between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur are regarded by our tradition as an optimal time for spiritual reflection. Tailor-made for this purpose is the practice of Hebrew chant!

Join us in the Chapel on Sunday, September 16th, at 5 PM as we pre-prayer for Yom Kippur through inspirational chant and uplifting song. Our words are taken from or inspired by the liturgy of Yom Kippur and are set to compelling melodies that are a joy to sing. Our singing and chanting will have light musical accompaniment

Be prepared to sing your heart open, soothe your mind, and let your spirit soar!

No prior knowledge of Hebrew necessary or singing ability . . . only a willingness to join in spiritual community

Hedwig Gruenewald Early Childhood Center (HGECC)

By Rochelle Baron, Director

We are excited to begin another new year at HGECC!

Our Parent Orientation meeting is scheduled for Wednesday evening, September 5 and is followed the next day with an Open House for the children when they will come to meet their teachers and check out their new classrooms. The first day of classes will be on Friday, September 7.

Many activities will keep us busy throughout 2018-2019. The teachers have planned exciting curriculums and are ready to get everything in full swing. September is a bit 'light' on actual school days but we have many plans to get everyone engaged and on board about what's to come in each group. In addition to our morning enrichment programs of Music with Ms. Jill, Kids Yoga, visits from the Cora Hartshorn Arboretum and Travelin' Tumblers, we're looking forward to our afternoon enrichment classes of Art Exploration, Amazing Athletes, Tae Kwon Do, Preschool Performers and Ooey Gooley Science.

Best wishes from Gary and I for a healthy, happy new year!

Sincerely,

Rochelle

Blanche Bayer Religious School (BPRS)

By Rabbi Sharon Litwin, Director of Congregational Learning

In July, I was privileged to spend 11 days in Israel, 7 of them with the Alexander Muss High School in Israel (AMHSI). High School in Israel? Why would I need to go back almost 30 years to relive my years in High School? Actually, I was with a group of 16 teen educators, 5 of whom are not Jewish, 9 work in secular public and private schools as guidance counselors, principals, and deans of students, 1 other is a rabbi, 2 work with organizations that promote global studies for teens and all of us were profoundly impressed with the opportunities that AMHSI offers to teenagers in their array of programs.

AMHSI was founded over 40 years ago as a response to the dwindling interest of teens in being involved in the Jewish community. (Sound familiar?) Over the past 4 decades, thousands of teens have attended either a semester (14 weeks), a mini-semester (8 weeks) or a summer (6 weeks) of High School in Israel. The core program consists of a 6-college-credit Jewish history course which starts with Adam and Eve and runs chronologically through today. 3-4 days a week, the students are in a classroom with a highly trained, engaging and expert teacher and then the other days, they are using the Land of Israel as their classroom. They visit ancient historic sites, centers of Jewish mysticism, graves of early Zionist pioneers and take hikes through the biblical landscape. They learn about modern Israel through encounters with Israelis, Arabs, politicians, teens and adults. They volunteer with food banks, shelters, medical facilities and with the elderly. When the students are there for a semester or mini-semester they also have general studies classes, mostly in tutorial and the school is accredited to teach for AP's and other pre-college requirements.

All I can say about my time in the program is that I learned something new every single day. As a student, I lived in Israel for 2 years, majored in Jewish Studies in college, and obviously spent 5 years in Rabbinical School. For me to learn so many new things and to gain new perspectives was so inspiring and promising.

Ultimately, the goal of AMHSI is for every student to think more critically, to be more attached to the Land and State of Israel and to return home with a stronger and more developed Jewish identity. High School is a formative time in the development of human identity and the values that AMHSI instills in its students are remarkable. I know I sound like an advertisement, but I am only sharing with you as passionately as I feel that one of the best things we can do for our teens is to help them to grow as Jews. If it is even a small possibility that you know a teenager in 10th, 11th or 12th grade who would benefit from a program like AMHSI, I would be happy to share more about my experience with you and help you to connect to the program.

Wishing you a Shana Tova, a Happy and Sweet New Year.

Sisterhood's Message

By Laurie Kavowras and Ruth Novick

Laurie Kavowras

Ruth Novick

We can still feel the warm sun on our faces and the sand beneath our toes. Sigh. Although summer is drawing to an end and the Jewish holidays loom, we, along with our amazing Sisterhood Board and incredible group of volunteers, have been hard at work planning for next year. Here's a look ahead to some of the upcoming programs.

Rosh Hashanah Honey Sale: hat better way to wish family, friends, and business associates a Sweet and Healthy New Year than sending a jar of honey Mah Jongg: We have had record attendance at our monthly mah jongg meetups! Established players and learning players alike discard craks, bams and dots, with some groups even wagering 25-50 cents a game (ooh, such high stakes!) in the hope of being able to exclaim MAH JONGG! Our next mah jongg night is Wednesday, September 26. Free for all Sisterhood members, $5 for non-members.

Fall Bookends: What would you do if you knew exactly when you would die? The Immortalists, the second novel by 28 year old Chloe Benjamin (an Edna Ferber Fiction Book Award Winner for her first book), ponders this question. Set in the Lower East Side of New York in 1969, word has spread of the arrival of a traveling psychic who claims to be able to tell anyone the day they will die. The Gold children—four adolescents on the cusp of self-awareness—sneak out to hear their fortunes. This highly acclaimed novel follows the lives of each of these children and we learn how their prophecies affect their lives. Our Fall Bookends, led by our very own Sara Sherman, will discuss the book on October 4.

Rosh Chodesh: Our first Rosh Chodesh program of the year will be Monday, October 15. Julie Schwarzwald will regale us about her journey to becoming a rabbi. The cost of the program is $18 and includes dinner. To rsvp or for more information, please contact Wendy Kaplowitz at 908-964-0127 or wendy.kaplowitz@verizon.net.

Knit and Knosh: Do you have a KNack for KNots? People are KNOcking down the doors for monthly KNit and KNosh! We KNow you'll be excited to learn that this popular program will return on October 30. Bring your own project or stitch for a cause. Want to learn how to knit? We have yarn, you bring needles. For more information, please reach out to Marion Mohl at marionmol@aol.com or 908-273-8157, or to Ann Spector at annspector@msn.com or 973-868-0329.

Kickoff: We are also excited to announce that our kickoff dinner for all paid up Sisterhood members will be on Thursday, October 25. As of the date of this article, we are still working on the program, but we assure you that there will be some silliness involved! Please stay tuned for more information.

New Kiddush Sponsorship Opportunities: The Congregation has spoken and we have listened. Over the years, our members have requested healthy options for our Shabbat morning kiddushes and now our regular kiddushes feature veggies, dips, fruit and other healthy choices. But, of course, we still offer sweet and savory treats! Now our members have asked for more variety and we are pleased to announce that Sisterhood is offering several menus that are available for sponsorship at a range of prices. Our offerings include a yogurt/fruit/granola bar (the "Kveller"), a savory veggie bar (the "Nachas"), bagels, cream cheese, dips and fruit (the "Noshers"), and ziti/salad (the "Mensch"). And for our b'nai mitzvah families and for those wishing to sponsor a full blown, traditional Kiddush (the "Simcha"), we still offer that! If you have good news that you would like to share with the congregation or would like to sponsor a Kiddush "just for the heck of it," please reach out to Jane Brauer, our Kiddush coordinator extraordinaire, at brauer1000@yahoo.com.

Our families join us in wishing everyone a happy, healthy and sweet new year.

Upcoming Events:

MINYANAIRE'S GENEROSITY HELPS OTHER WORTHY ORGANIZATIONS

Every day, when minyan-goers (euphemistically called "Minyanaires") give 'tzedakah' to the 'pushkeh' (Charity Box), the money is collected and reserved for distribution to charitable organizations at a later date.

Over the course of the year, the coins, dollars and larger bills contributed, add up to a considerable amount of money from which funds are disbursed to other Jewish organizations around the globe.

The latest recipients (in no particular order) are:

- Keren Or
- American Friends of Lema'an Achai
- Mazon
- American Friends of Magen David Adom
- Dorot
- Jewish National Fund
- Ram Bam Hospital

Please join us at our daily morning and evening minyanim and you too may both perform the mitzvah of communal prayer and help worthy organizations throughout the world.

ISRAEL AFFAIRS

By Joe Tenenbaum

Another vacation in Israel – or is it really a visit?

Again this summer, Nancy and I spent over a month in Israel. I would not really call it a vacation; it was more of a visit. We visited our daughter and her family and helped take care of our beautiful granddaughters.

(Next time you see me on a weekday, ask to see some pictures).

Living in Israel is different than living in the United States. Different even from living in a Jewish neighborhood in the United States. And being here is more challenging than living a routine existence at home. So once again, I will give you a few observations from our visit:

I just gave directions in Hebrew to a driver in front of our family's apartment. Quite a first step for me. I hope I did a good job. And I hope the people who chose to rely on me got to where they were going, rapidly and without having to ask for directions again. (Actually, driving around here is rarely rapid, so I just hope my directions were helpful.)

As I write this, I am in the middle of my Hebrew instruction, and I believe it is going well. The emphasis this time is on having courage to speak. And I think it is working. It turns out that waiting until you have learned all the appropriate grammar rules, and only then speaking is a road to silence. (or a road to speaking English). Within the confines of my one on one instruction, I watch videos, complete exercises and then talk with the instructor for about half an hour. I have also taken a couple of walks to drink coffee and to tour near by neighborhoods, while speaking and listening (mostly) in Hebrew.

In a related change in life style, I have been learning to ride the buses here in Tel Aviv. The first lesson was to know where to catch the bus. I made a choice early on that I would rather walk an extra quarter mile in the morning to be at a bus stop with shade, instead of the closer one, which at around 7:00 am has nothing by sunshine. Then I learned the equally important lesson – how to get off the bus, principally related to how to get the bus to stop. While riding the 90 bus to the Ramat Aviv Mall, I watched as the bus drove right by the stop. I figured I would get off at the next stop and walk back – but unfortunately the next stop was in Herzliya, miles away. But I got the first bus in the other direction and still had fun with the family. (There is a very nice food court at the Ramat Aviv Mall).

One more thing about Israel in July and August. Exercise is great, but air conditioning is essential. Is it a blessing or a curse, that I have grown up in a time and place, where I do not like long periods of 90 degree heat? Either way, I find long walks exciting, and I meet my exercise goals, but I need my periods of mazgan (air conditioning) in between.

And about those issues?

At the same time as our visit, there were controversies – passage of the nation state law, detention of a rabbi who officiated at an unauthorized wedding, arrests of Jews who prayed on the temple mount, and issues with outside organizations about how Israel should fight its enemies. These are important issues, covered so well by the various news and commentary sites. But living day to day in Israel, without English language news sites, the issues are less pressing.

Before I finish writing about our trip, I want to mention one other exciting event which we attended several times – there is an open-air instrumental Shabbat service on Friday night during several weeks in the summer. Led by an Israeli rabbi, with singers and musicians, the service was very energetic and exciting. And I found something very special sitting at a Shabbat service as the sun is setting over the Mediterranean Sea. In the historical context of the establishment of the State of Israel, it is amazing to me to have hundreds of Israeli Jews and other visitors experiencing such an inspiring event, which would be impossible if there were not a Jewish state of Israel.

How to stay current

I encourage you to stay up to date on news about Israel by visiting <http://www.dailyalert.org/> This website includes a digest of US, Israeli and international news sources reporting on events in the middle east. It is essential that when you read an article accusing Israel of bad behavior, that you review it carefully to check the source of the accusation. Israel's enemies have a history of proclaiming false accusations. Usually within a few days, facts turn out to be different than originally reported.

CBI Israel Affairs Committee

If you would like to work on a committee which will actively plan and assist all arms of the Congregation to support Israel, please contact me at TenenbaumJ@AOL.com. For those of you who prefer telephones, please call me at 973 768 7440. I am planning to really use this committee to plan CBI programs to help all of us improve our knowledge and our relationships with Israel. Please volunteer.
